Cosmetic Imaging Software

Image Management and Cosmetic Imaging

Kodak cosmetic imaging software is simple to use yet delivers powerful results. When used in conjunction with a digital camera, this software provides a simple way to create compelling aesthetic and restorative treatment simulations to dramatically improve patient communication and increase case acceptance. Plus, it's backed by our commitment to service and support so you can focus on what's most important – your patients.

Professional images. Happy patients.

With Kodak cosmetic imaging software, you will be able to present your patients with professional images that simulate proposed treatment results, helping to improve patient understanding and set realistic patient expectations – often increasing case acceptance and satisfaction with the final aesthetic treatment result.

Help your patients visualize and accept your treatment recommendations.

From simulating a simple tooth whitening procedure to a full mouth rehabilitation, Kodak cosmetic imaging software allows both the patient and the practitioner to better visualize the appearance and functional benefits of proposed treatment recommendations.

With Kodak cosmetic imaging software you can perform simulations for:

- Laminate veneers
- Tooth-colored restorations
- Bonding
- Porcelain crowns and bridges
- Diastema closure
- Crown-lengthening
- Cosmetic contouring
- Much more

Easy-to-use and powerful results.

Whether used as a stand-alone application, on a network or integrated with your practice management software, or other imaging technologies, our cosmetic imaging software provides the dentist and team members with simple to use software tools to perform realistic and compelling simulations of intended aesthetic and restorative treatments.
