ATLANTA—Doctors will soon have greater access to Carestream Dental's innovative technology thanks to a new partnership with Burkhart Dental Supply. As an authorized dealer, Burkhart will be able to market, sell, install and service nearly all of Carestream Dental's equipment, accessories and imaging software.

No matter where a doctor is on their digital journey, this new partnership makes it easy for the Burkhart team to guide and support them along the way with access to Carestream Dental technology. For example, the CS 8100 3D extraoral imaging system can capture high-resolution 3D images for a more confident diagnosis and the new award-winning CS 9600 CBCT system, a highly intuitive system with smart features, can make getting the right image on the first try easier than ever. The CS 3600 intraoral scanner, known for its high speed and precision, makes taking digital impressions faster and more comfortable for the patient, while the new CS 3700 intraoral scanner offers Smart-shade matching and unlimited workflow capacity from a single scan.

"Carestream Dental is excited to support the Burkhart team through sales activities, training, customer demos and event support," Jeremy Thomas, general manager for the Americas Region, Carestream Dental, said. "The two companies share many of the same values, such as their focus on providing cutting-edge technology and ensuring doctors have the training and education to get the most out of their systems, which makes this the perfect partnership."

"At Burkhart we believe in putting the needs of our clients first," Jeff Reece, vice president, Sales and Marketing, Burkhart Dental Supply, said.
